ICTS FOUNDER SERVES AS THE MODERATOR FOR THE 2014 ASTD GOVERNMENT WORKFORCE CONFERENCE

Washington, D.C. – September 2014- Sardek Love will be the moderator for the 2014 American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) Government Workforce conference being held in Washington D.C. this fall. This conference is the premier conference for government training professionals and is designed to provide best practices as well as practical tools on next generation workplace learning. Sardek's success as the 2010 Chair of the ASTD Chapter Leaders Conference and his consulting firm's diverse government client base, including the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the City of Alexandria (Virginia) and more, was a driver in ASTD seeking him as this year's Government Workforce conference moderator.

The American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) is the world's largest association for workplace learning and performance professionals. ASTD is changing its name to the Association for Talent and Development (ATD) to meet the growing needs of a dynamic, global profession.
